Women May Hire Leader

[illegible] national committeewomen were gathering for a conference tomorrow at which they [illegible] consider hiring a director to [illegible] the women's division of the [illegible].

[illegible] first formal preparation [illegible] next year's elections by a [illegible] group in either major [illegible].

There was talk in the capital [illegible] presidential elections. Sen. [illegible] Democrat of New York, [illegible] a constitutional amendment restricting any president [illegible] no more than two terms. [illegible] contains a provision that a [illegible] executive whose first term [illegible] less than four years because [illegible] 20th "lame duck" amendment would be eligible for a second term and no more.

The lame duck amendment cut Mr. Roosevelt's first term by [illegible] weeks, bringing his second inauguration on Jan. 20 instead of March 4.

Action Doubtful

Several senators predicted there would be no action on Copeland's proposal at this session.

Vice President Garner, who was [illegible] in some quarters with [illegible] the affair, was selected [illegible] at tonight's dinner.

Sitting at the head table with [illegible], it was learned, will be Senators Barkley, Harrison of Mississippi, who lost the leadership by a single vote, Pittman of Nevada, [illegible] of South Carolina, Glass of [illegible], Lewis of Illinois, Wheeler of Montana, Ashurst of Arizona, McKellar of Tennessee, Sheppard of Texas and Guffey of Pennsylvania.

Wheeler led the fight on the [illegible] court bill, while Harrison, Glass and Smith have [illegible] various administration [illegible].

SLAYING RAGE EASES IN CHINA

Bodies of Two Japanese Sailors Killed in Clash Returned to Nippon Authorities.

ACT SOOTHES ORIENTALS

Both Sides Decide To Settle Issue Diplomatically and Avoid Hostilities.

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, Aug. 10—The bodies of a Japanese naval officer and seaman, killed in a clash with Chinese guards at the entrance to the Hungjao military airdrome, were turned over to Japanese authorities today. This action caused an appreciable relaxation of the tension in China's metropolis.

Chinese and Japanese officials worked vigorously to curb the mounting tension and both announced they had agreed to settle the incident by diplomatic means in order not to aggravate the situation caused by a month of undeclared war between the two powers in north China.

The Japanese specifically stated they would not call into action Japan's permanent naval defense force, to which both victims belonged.

Chinese Build Barricks

Immediately after the clash at the airdrome in the western outskirts of the city yesterday Chinese militarized police began constructing barricades and put out heavy patrols of gendarmes along the main roads of the district. They expressed fear of attack from the nearby barracks of the Japanese naval units and continued to man their barricades.

Popular feeling remained acute with Chinese residents of neighboring sectors—scenes of heavy fighting in the 1932 Shanghai war between China and Japan—in near panic. Both Japanese and Chinese officials continued their conflicting stories of the incident but it was noticeable that each avoided making charges that would place the other in an untenable position.

Chinese charged the Japanese officer opened fire on Chinese sentries at the airdrome, wounding

SPEED NEEDED IF CONGRESS IS TO QUIT AUG. 21

Must Pass as Many Big Bills Through House in 2 Weeks as in Last 7 Months.

PRESS HOUSING MEASURE

Group Also Winding Up Hearings on Means of Plugging Tax Loopholes.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—Adjournment of congress by Aug. 21 depended today on the ability of leaders to cram as many major bills through the house in two weeks as in the last seven months.

Three developments strengthened their chances of success:

1. Chairman Steagall, Democrat of Alabama, said he hoped to obtain today the house banking committee's approval of a low-cost housing and slum clearance bill.

2. The house ways and means committee agreed to end its hearings on proposals to repair defects in the revenue laws which, the treasury says, have permitted tax avoidance totaling millions of dollars.

3. Arrangements tentatively were completed to bring before the house tomorrow a bill to insure wheat growers against crop losses from natural disasters.

Sugar Bill Ready

The senate, keeping busy with minor legislation while waiting for the house to complete more important measures, helped along the cause of early adjournment when its finance committee virtually agreed on provisions of a sugar control bill.

Chairman Harrison, Democrat of Mississippi, made a date to discuss the measure with the President, who has threatened to veto it unless restrictions on imports of refined sugar from Hawaii and Puerto Rico are lifted.

Except for one minor point, which Sen. McCarran (D. Nev.) predicted would be disposed of quickly, senate-house conferees were in complete harmony on the lower court procedure bill. It may go to the White House this week.

General farm and wage-hour legislation still are trouble spots.

More than a score of farm-belt congressmen remained insistent that congress stay in session until it enacts a farm bill. A decision of senate and house leaders, however, to give the bill priority at the next session in January apparently was going to prevail.

Wage Debate Thursday

The house probably will begin debate on the wage and hour bill Thursday with a final vote before the end of the week.

First, the bill has to obtain right of way to the floor from the rules committee. Strong differences over its merits were evident in the committee.

The program for the house looks like this for the next two weeks:

Consider today legislation to revise the bankruptcy laws.

Vote on crop insurance and wages and hours later this week.

Debate on housing, taxes and the final deficiency appropriation bills next week.

All measures on the legislative agenda have received senate approval except sugar, taxes and the deficiency appropriation.

The senate approved yesterday a measure increasing amounts paid to widows and orphans of men killed in the World war. Sponsors said it would add about $7,916,000 to the cost of veterans' benefits in the next year. The bill goes to the White House.

MERCHANTS TO VOTE ON CLOSING PLAN

All Year Wednesday Afternoon Suspension of Business Proposed.

Year-round Wednesday afternoon closing of uptown retail stores will be decided this week among the merchants.

A vote among some 200 retail store operators in the uptown district will be sponsored by the newly-organized Marion Food Distributors association. Action to poll the merchants was taken at a meeting last night in the Retail Merchants bureau office.

Summer Wednesday afternoon closing has been successful, the sponsors point out, and a survey made by the association shows that other cities have found half-day closing throughout the year equally popular, officers said.

Definite action probably will be taken at a meeting of the association next Tuesday night at the Druids hall.

Voting cards will be mailed Wednesday or Thursday to the merchants and their reaction will be reported at the meeting Tuesday night.

Frank McDaniels is president of the association and Carl Campbell is secretary.

EDISON'S SON DIES

COUNTY WHEAT UNDER NORMAL

Harvest Virtually Complete, Shows Yield 15 to 25 Per Cent Down.

QUALITY ALSO UNDER PAR

Results in Price Drop With Average of About 97 Cents; Little No. 1 Grade.

Marion county's wheat yield for the 1937 harvest, now virtually finished, is from 15 to 25 per cent less than a normal year, a check-up among elevators throughout the county showed today. Yield per acre, usually between 25 and 30 bushels and even more in good years, ranged from nothing to about 30 with an average of about 15.

Virtually all farmers and grain buyers agreed that the cause of the crop this year was the rain and hot weather immediately following. In the vicinity of Waldo there was also considerable rust to cut the yield further, the Waldo elevator reported.

In addition to lower yields, farmers in the county received lower average prices for their grain this year, due to its generally inferior quality. The average price was about 97 cents a bushel as compared with $1.04 or $1.05 last summer, according to M. S. Miller, manager of the Marion Grain & Supply Co. The range in prices offered this year was tremendous, running from 60 cents to $1.15, as compared with a range of from about 95 cents to the same top last year.

The reason for the wide variety of prices was the lack of uniformity in the quality of the wheat, buyers said.

The Marion Milling Co., which operates the county's largest elevator, reported wheat had been received ranging in weight from 49 to 59 pounds per bushel. An official said the year's crop is well below normal both in quality and quantity.

The range in weights per bushel throughout the county was from 38 to 60 pounds with an average of about 53 pounds, according to a summary of reports from elevators.

NAMING TRIPLETS IS DIFFICULT TASK

Naming of three daughters at one time is no spur-of-the-moment affair, the family of Marion's Cratty triplets has found.

The baby at the Frederick C. Smith clinic is still No. 1 and the two at the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Cratty of 659 Woodrow avenue, are still Nos. 2 and 3.

Names galore have been suggested for the three little girls born last Friday but so far none of the suggestions has "clicked." Until the right combination comes along the important decision will wait.

The babies are showing satisfactory response to their special feeding formula and most of the time consume all of the half-ounce of nourishment which is offered each of them every three hours. Baby No. 1 will remain at the clinic at least another week, the attending physician said.

PLANE CRASH KILLS FOUR, INJURES FIVE

City's Primary Turn-Out Lightest in Recent Years

Indications Are Vote Will Not Exceed 17 Per Cent of Ballots Cast in Last City Election.

One of the lightest primary votes in recent years was being cast in Marion city today, according to a check-up at noon which indicated the total vote may not be more than 17 per cent of the vote cast in the municipal election two years ago.

Ten out of the 30 precincts in the city reported at noon that the vote was the lightest in their experience. On the basis of vote tabulations made at noon it is estimated the total vote when the polls close at 6:30 tonight will be slightly more than 1,550.

There is a possibility, election officials said, that rain this morning might have cut down the usual vote and that the shop workers and business men will go to the polls this afternoon and result in a larger afternoon vote than anticipated.

At the municipal election in November of 1935 the total vote cast in the mayoralty race was 9,116 and represented 68 per cent of the registered voters in the city. Election officials predicted the vote today will be only about 12 per cent of the registered voters.

Headquarters Quiet

C. G. Ritzler, deputy clerk of the board of elections, said the board's offices are the quietest he can remember. This morning he revised downward an earlier estimate of the vote which he had set at 2,000 and said it probably will be considerably below that figure.

At noon not a single voter had called the election board to find out where he or she was supposed to vote, an unusual situation, officials said. Likewise, no bets were reported, which is understandable in view of the fact that there are only six contests on both tickets.

According to the checkup of the 10 precincts, Democrats are outnumbering the Republicans at the polls. Of the vote at that time 60 per cent were Democratic and 40 Republican.

Vote by Precincts

The precincts checked, the votes at noon and the vote in the last municipal election follow:

First ward, precinct A, 8 Republicans and 21 Democrats, normal vote 400; First ward, precinct B, 14 Democrats and 6 Republicans, 337 votes two years ago. First ward, precinct D, 17 Democrats and 12 Republicans, 334 votes two years ago. Second ward, precinct A, 8 Democrats and 5 Republicans, 292 two years ago. Second ward, precinct B, 18 Democrats and 10 Republicans, 312 two years ago. Third ward, precinct A, 12 Democrats and 6 Republicans, 282 two years ago. Fourth ward, precinct A, 9 Republicans and 6 Democrats, 273 two years ago. Fourth ward, precinct D, 8 Democrats and 6 Republicans, 293 two years ago. Fifth ward, precinct A, 12 Republicans and 6 Democrats, about 350 two years ago. Sixth ward, precinct A, 8 Republicans, 5 Democrats, about 350 two years ago.

One election official who has served 17 years in the First ward, precinct B, said today's vote is the lightest in his memory. In Second ward precinct B where the usual vote is about 300, officials predicted today's vote will not be more than 50. In the Third ward, precinct A, with a usual vote of about 250, an official said the vote today will be "not over 50."

At the primary two years ago about 5,000 citizens voted and set what election officials termed a record high. The Democrats and Republicans were virtually even then.

Heading the contests in today's primary is the race for the Democratic nomination for mayor between Eugene L. Holt of 540 [illegible] avenue, Ted W. Davis of 563 West street and Clifford K. Mercer of 202 Avondale avenue. Mayor Frederick C. Smith is unopposed on the Republican ticket.

Other contests are for the Republican and Democratic nominations for councilman-at-large and third ward council nominations and for the Democratic Fourth ward council nomination.

Youngstown Suburb Votes Under Guard

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 10—Climaxing a heated primary campaign for the Democratic nomination for mayor, voters of suburban Campbell went to the polls today under the watchful eyes of three flying squads of deputy sheriffs and extra municipal police.

The deputies and all Campbell police, ordered on duty for the opening of the polls at 6:30 a. m., were detailed for 15 hour patrol of the town's 13 precinct voting booths, as steps were taken by municipal and Mahoning county officials to prevent election day disturbances.

The special police guard was furnished at the request of John Vitullo, elections board clerk, who told Mayor John J. Borak and Sheriff Ralph E. Elser he feared trouble because of the town's heated campaign.

His request followed the shooting Sunday night of Councilman John Lysowski, campaign manager for candidate William Glass, running in opposition to Mayor Borak.

Chief excitement in today's municipal primaries over the state appeared centered in Campbell. More than 3,500 of the state's 8,600 precinct voting places were opened for primary balloting in towns of more than 2,000 population, but with the Toledo primary not scheduled until Sept. 21, and the Cleveland primary Sept. 28.

Among special issues being voted upon today in Ohio are:

Akron—Eight mill levy for school operating expenses.

Lima—Three mill levy for school operating expenses.

Delaware—Three mill levy for current operating expenses.

Worthington—Three mill levy for current operating expenses.

Alliance—Vote on $45,000 street and sewer improvement bond issue.

Scioto county—One and a half mill levy for current expenses.

Sandusky will vote on a charter amendment on Aug. 17, and Utica on a $38,000 sewer system bond issue Aug. 31.

Comet's Debut Made Last Night in Cloudy Skies

A comet with two flaming tails blazed through the northern skies last night, but to Marion residents the heavens were full of just plain rain and clouds.

Interference of Jupiter Pluvius was expected to mar the comet's appearance again tonight, judging from weather prospects at noon.

The comet, named after its discoverer, Dr. P. Finsler, a Swiss mathematics professor, can be seen best in the northern skies at midnight under favorable weather conditions, Harvard university astronomers told The Associated Press.

Finsler's comet was expected to be visible to the naked eye tonight and Wednesday night, before beginning its declination. It reached its maximum brilliance last night as it swung through the handle of the big dipper.

Scientists said the comet reached the third magnitude last night, explaining that an object in the sixth magnitude is the smallest that is visible to the naked eye. Dr. Finsler made the discovery July 4.

EMERGENCY BOARD IN NEED OF FUNDS

Has Only $42,000 and Receives Requests Totaling More Than $65,000.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 10—Members of the state emergency board are scratching their heads trying to figure out how they can stretch $42,000 into more than $65,000.

The board which is composed of the finance director, auditor, attorney general and the chairmen of the finance committees of the senate and house of representatives, is authorized to supply funds to various departments for emergency purposes. A lump sum is set aside in each general budget bill from which to make emergency grants.

Right now the board has only $42,000 remaining from an original grant of $250,000 made early this year, to meet all demands for the remainder of the year.

Pending requests now total $65,853 from various state departments.

The Ohio National Guard was allowed $180,000 for strike duty and drew on a $70,000 balance of flood relief funds to pay additional strike costs.

ROBBER ADMITS ALGER HOLDUP

Confesses He Took Part in 22 Bank Jobs, Including Four in Ohio.

HELD AT PORTLAND, ORE.

Man and Girl Companion Caught by G-Men and Local Police.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—Federal agents said today that Clair R. Gibson, 31-year-old bank robbery suspect held at Portland, Ore., pending removal to St. Paul, Minn., had confessed to participating in 22 bank robberies including four in Ohio.

Gibson and a girl companion, Violet Brian, were arrested by federal agents and Oregon local police at Leon Lake, Ore.

Federal bureau of investigation records linked Gibson with the robbery of a Columbus, O., bank in 1934, and with the robbery of the North Hill Savings & Loan Co., at Akron last March. In addition, federal agents said, Gibson confessed to participating in the $1,817 robbery of the Citizens Banking Co. of Weston, O., March 16, and in the holdup March 26 of the Alger Savings bank at Alger, O.

George Embry, who was arrested April 14 by Madison, Wis., police on a charge of armed robbery, was transferred to Toledo, O., May 21 to stand trial for the Weston and Alger holdups and the robbery of the Berlin Heights Banking Co. at Huron, O., March 30. All three robberies were committed by two men.

In the Weston holdup, two robbers escaped after striking a cashier on the head and compelling two bank officers to ride on the running boards of the getaway car. The officers were released later, unharmed.

SUPPLY BILL SIGNED WITH RELUCTANCE

Roosevelt Objects Especially to $10,000,000 Increase for Vocational Education.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—President Roosevelt said today he had signed "with much reluctance" the $132,732,000 interior department supply bill which provides for reclamation, education and many other activities.

The chief executive objected particularly to a $10,000,000 increase in the vocational education fund.

The President said the advisory committee on education which he appointed last September to study the experience under the existing federal aid program was unanimous in recommending uncurtailed continuance of the program.

It was not in favor, however, the President said, of enlarging federal support until consideration was given the whole subject of federal relations to state and local conduct of education of all types.

SHIP HITS POLE AFTER TAKEOFF

Airport Manager Says He Was Not Notified of Power Line Strung Last Night.

2 PILOTS AMONG VICTIMS

Jamaica and Mexico City Passengers Succumb to Injuries in Hospital.

By The Associated Press

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Aug. 10—A 14-passenger Eastern Air Lines plane crashed into a newly erected power line pole near the airport here early today, fluttered helplessly into a thicket and wrecked, killing four persons.

Pete Dygert, airport manager, said the power line was strung at 11 p. m. last night and that he had not been notified. It was not there last night when another Eastern Air Lines plane took off for Miami at 10:23 p. m. eastern standard time, Dygert said.

Killed in the crash were:

Capt. Stuart Dietz of Baltimore, chief pilot; Robert Reed, co-pilot; J. F. Philpots of Jamaica, and W. G. Marlon of Mexico City, passengers.

The injured:

E. W. Philpots, son of J. F., not seriously injured.

H. M. Hamilton of Detroit.

F. M. Thompson of Greenville, S. C.

C. W. Dunlap, care Philbrico Co., Chicago.

Bryan Merrill, steward, not seriously injured.

Line's First Fatal Crash

The big Douglas airliner, en route from Chicago to Miami, struck the power line pole at 4:10 a. m. eastern standard time, after making a scheduled stop here. It was Eastern Air Line's first fatal accident.

Dietz was killed instantly—crushed in the wreckage. Co-Pilot Reed and J. F. Philpots died at a hospital.

Dygert said the overhead line was put up by the Florida Power & Light Co. as a temporary measure because of power failure in an underground cable.

The plane had risen about 40 feet when it hit the line. The liner fluttered crazily for more than 100 yards, then struck the earth. It plowed up the ground for another 150 feet before coming to rest against a small tree.

Both motors were enveloped in flames for a moment after the impact, but the blaze died quickly and the cabin was not touched by the fire.

The plane apparently struck nothing between the time it hit the pole and the crash.

Plane Loses Wings

The craft lost its wings several hundred feet away from its stopping place. The motors also were a considerable distance from the plane.

Airport employes said survivors probably owed their lives to the fact the rear part of the cabin was almost intact. Not so the fore part—the twisted wreckage looked like a battered tin can.

The airliner had left Jacksonville behind schedule, because of low hanging clouds.

Two passengers disembarked here. They were among the eye-witnesses.

Charles G. Williams of Orlando, Fla., said Dr. Charles M. Gratz of New York, was the "hero" of the accident.

"He was among the first to enter the plane following the crash," Williams said, "and gave what care he could to the injured passengers. He faced possible death or injury himself entering the wreckage as it appeared the plane would burst into flames at any time."

"There were three distinct crashes when the ship fell," Williams continued. "Dr. Gratz and I were in the airport building, waiting for a plane to take us to Orlando, when we heard the crashes.

"The first came when the airliner hit the pole, the second when the motors tore loose and the third when the wreckage hit the ground.

Boy Thrown Clear

"E. W. Philpots, a 10-year-old boy, was thrown clear of the plane and apparently was not seriously injured. He didn't know his father was killed.

"One of the two motors landed approximately 50 feet from the scene and burst into flames. The passengers trapped in the cabin were lucky the other motor didn't burn as it was near the wreckage.

"The pilot, whose head was severed, and the Philpots boy were the only ones thrown clear. The others were trapped in the wreckage and it took about 10 minutes to get them out."

In the only previous accident involving an Eastern Air Lines plane, passengers and crew escaped with nothing more serious than cuts and bruises when [illegible] Dick Merrill, trans-Atlantic flier, was at the controls on that occasion. The ship, flying in a fog, hit the side of a hill in New Jersey.

SERVICE HELD HERE FOR 2 MISSIONARIES

Couple Soon To Sail for Work in India Field Are Honored.

Prospects for mission work in South India and the work done in past years in Burma were recounted by Rev. and Mrs. Lewis Pratt of Lee, Me., last night at the Trinity Baptist church.

The audience of approximately 60 persons included members of the Marion Baptist association from Prospect, Radnor, the Springdale church, and the three Marion churches.

Young people of the association sponsored the program, with Miss Emma Osterholt of the Fite Memorial church of Marion, president of the young people's group, in charge.

Rev. Pratt spoke first, dwelling on the hopes and aspirations which he and his wife have for their coming work. He explained the need for young missionaries in the field in which they are being sent.

Mission work in Burma was presented by Mrs. Pratt who taught in the normal training department of the Kemmendine Girls school in Rangoon from 1928 to 1930.

Rev. and Mrs. Pratt will sail next month for the Baptist mission field in South India.

A devotional service in charge of Miss Osterholt preceded the program. Afterward an informal reception was held in the church basement. Members of the Senior Baptist Young People's union of Trinity church served refreshments.

BUCKET FRACTURES PAINTER'S SKULL

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., Aug. 10—Harley A. Cochran, 37, of Delaware, is in Jane M. Case hospital following an accident Saturday in which his skull was fractured. Cochran was standing on a scaffold painting around the coping of the West school building when a paint bucket slipped from the hand of a man working higher on the building and fell about 12 feet, hitting Cochran on the head. A fellow-worker on the scaffolding caught Cochran and prevented him from falling three floors onto a cement walk.

CHURCH REELECTS REV. C. R. PRIDGEN

Marion Minister Renamed Superintendent of Holiness Ohio District.

Rev. C. P. Pridgen of 782 Fillmore street was reelected superintendent of the Ohio district of the Pilgrim Holiness church, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Springfield where the annual assembly is being held.

Rev. D. C. Shearer, pastor of the First Pilgrim Holiness church, was reelected assistant superintendent.

Other officers reelected are Rev. L. R. Roberts of West Charleston, secretary, and Rev. M. C. Walker of Cincinnati, treasurer.

The officers and the following comprise the district council: Rev. E. E. Conaua of Springfield (reelected); Rev. Joel Harman of Atenum (reelected); and Rev. F. C. Saneholtz of Dayton, elected to succeed Rev. Richard Powell of Chillicothe.

Rev. J. A. Smith, newly elected pastor of the Second church of Marion, went to Springfield yesterday, and Rev. W. E. Muste, Pilgrim Holiness minister, planned to go today.

OLD GAG REFUTED

Visitor Here Passes Out Good Wooden Nickels.

The one-time jovial warning of "don't take any wooden nickels" carries no weight for G. W. Robertson of 120 South High street, who is now the proud possessor of an actual wooden nickel.

The nickel, a rectangular piece of wood shaving about two and one-half inches long, was given to Mr. Robertson by his son, Willis G. Robertson of Cumberland, Md., who came here Saturday with his family for a short visit with his father. The wooden coins, issued in five, ten and twenty-five cent denominations, were issued in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of Cumberland's founding in 1787. The celebration opened Sunday and will close Aug. 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Robertson are now visiting in Muncie, Ind. Two of their children, June and Betty, remained here for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Harger of 409 Girard avenue.

In Ohio History

(From the J. H. Galbraith collection of Ohio histories, written for The Associated Press.)

THE TWO DANBURYS

Danbury, Conn., is noted for its manufacture of hats; Danbury, O., for its production of peaches. Danbury, O., is a township in Ottawa county, near Sandusky. Danbury, Conn., is both a city and township in Fairfield county, which lies nearest to New York City.

When Connecticut was ceding her western reserve in Ohio she provided that 500,000 acres lying across the western end of the reserve should be set apart to be divided among those citizens of Connecticut who had suffered losses of property at the hands of the British in the Revolution. These lands lie in the present Erie and Huron counties. The names of many towns in the tract indicate the Connecticut origin of the people.

H. F. STALTER, 83, CLAIMED BY DEATH

HARPSTER, O., Aug. 10—Hiram Franklin Stalter, 83, retired farmer, died of infirmities of age this morning at his home five miles south of Upper Sandusky on Route 23. He was the father of Mrs. Thomas Leib of North State street, Marion, Hiram Stalter of Merkle avenue, Marion, Mrs. Catherine Paisley of Loudonville, Ira, at home, George of Marseilles and Bryan of Defiance. Also surviving are the widow Mrs. Emma Jeanette Sheets Stalter, and 12 grandchildren. Mr. Stalter was born June 26, 1854 in Wyandot county. The funeral will be conducted Friday at 2 p. m. at the home and at 2:30 p. m. at the Little Sandusky M. E. church. Burial will be made in the Oak Hill cemetery at Upper Sandusky.

ACCIDENT VICTIMS TAKEN TO COLUMBUS

Mrs. Carl Bayles of the Lido apartments on Pearl street and Charles O. Weirs of Columbus who were seriously hurt in an auto-bus crash Friday night north of Delaware, have been removed from Jane M. Case hospital in Delaware to Grant hospital in Columbus, according to a Delaware news report.

Mrs. Bayles was a passenger in a northbound bus which figured in a head-on collision in which the driver of an automobile, Kenneth Oman of Columbus, was fatally injured. Weirs was a passenger in the Oman car.

MODEL HOME OPEN FOR PUBLIC VIEW

House on Powhattan Street Built in Cooperation With FHA.

Many of the newest building features are on display in a model house on Powhattan street, built by H. P. Goedicke of the Smeltzer road, which was thrown open to the public yesterday. Open house will be observed all this week, from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 in the evening.

Steady streams of visitors filed through the six-room house yesterday afternoon and last night. The house was built in cooperation with the Federal Housing administration, was planned by the FHA's architects and its construction was supervised by them.

Built-in features are prominent in the model home, adding greatly both to appearance and convenience. The kitchen in particular presents built-in attractions, including an ironing-board which folds into a door, which in turn leads to a spacious closet.

A heating and cooling air-conditioning unit, weather-stripping in the windows and the latest-type of insulation are among the home's other features.

Window pulleys were done away with, the windows working on springs instead. Shelving in the kitchen cabinets and elsewhere is adjustable, allowing the shelves to be shifted to accommodate articles of varying sizes. The basement is nicely-appointed and could easily be made into a recreation room.

BAND REHEARSAL CALLED BY DIRECTOR

A reminder that the summer vacation is getting down to a matter of weeks is the first call for rehearsal for members of the Harding high school band issued today by Homer E. Hoffman, instrumental music supervisor in the public schools.

The rehearsal will be held Wednesday night at 7:30, in the auditorium of Central Junior high school. All former members and those planning to play in the band this year are asked to be present for the first rehearsal.

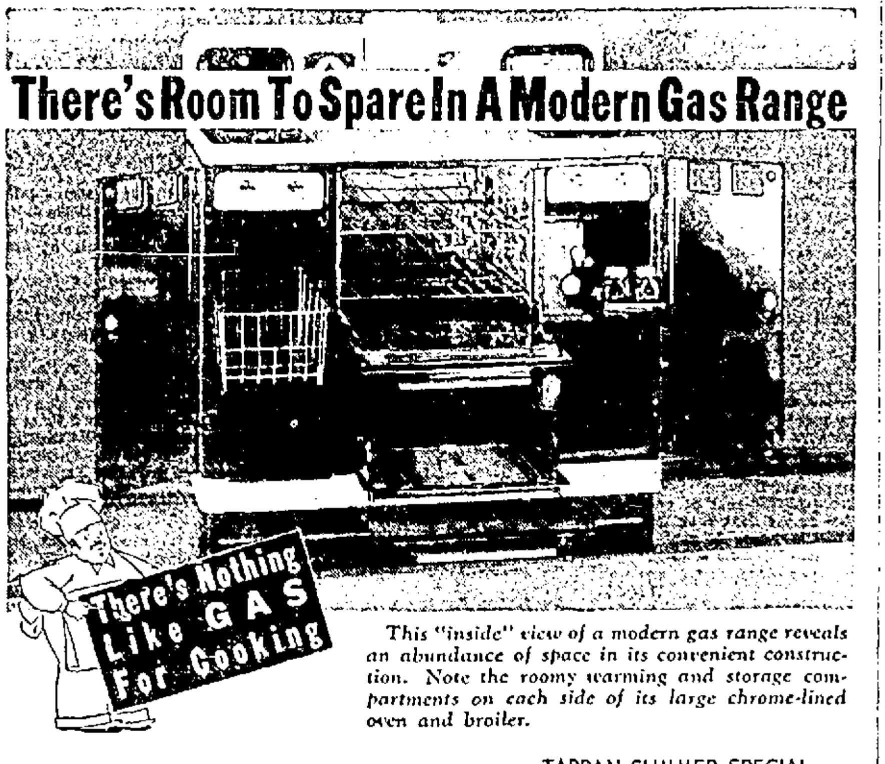
There's Room To Spare In A Modern Gas Range



This "inside" view of a modern gas range reveals an abundance of space in its convenient construction. Note the roomy warming and storage compartments on each side of its large chrome-lined oven and broiler.

The modern gas range is designed for utmost convenience as well as beauty. Spacious built-in closets supply an abundance of room for keeping foods warm and for storing utensils. The roominess of its large oven is enhanced by convenient adjustable shelves, and its broiler is of generous proportions. Then, too, its table top construction affords ample space for serving plates. These and countless other advantages of the modern gas range are winning the approval of homemakers the country over today. Why not a 1937 gas range for your kitchen?

Marion Group To Attend Dairy Day

County Farm Agent S. [illegible] Anderson and a [illegible] judging team of boys [illegible] several Marion [illegible] residents who will attend the [illegible] dairy day program at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station at Wooster this Friday. The judging event [illegible] which 110 teams from [illegible] agricultural classes and 4-H clubs entered last year are the [illegible] in Ohio with the exception of [illegible] at the [illegible] fair.

The Marion county judging team is composed of the members of the Waldo Junior Feeders 4-H club: [illegible] Deman, William [illegible] and [illegible] Helby. They were selected by the county agent's office to represent the 4-H clubs of the county in the tournament. Their [illegible] H. [illegible] of Waldo will be unable to attend.

While the judging is in progress the other visitors may listen to [illegible] on various subjects or tour the dairy barn where various demonstrations will be given. There will also be a special program for ladies.

One of the main subjects this year will be the ensiling of [illegible]. Other topics will include [illegible] of [illegible] steam meal feed flavors in milk, milk marketing, milk secretion, making cheese and ice cream.

Among the principal speakers will be [illegible] J. Tabor, master of the national grange, whose subject will be "The Dairyman, A Conservationist."

Demonstrations will include effects of [illegible] on [illegible] of milk, [illegible] of the cow and treatment of alfalfa silage. Probably most interesting to sight seers will be the cow with a glass window in her side permitting experimenters to observe digestive reactions inside the body.

BAN ON PICKETING REMOVED BY JUDGE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 10—A decision by Common Pleas Judge David Ralph Hertz permitting limited picketing in the vicinity of Republic Steel Corp. plants here today had virtually outlawed a recent proclamation by Safety Director Eliot Ness prohibiting picketing within 50 yards of the plants.

The decision given late yesterday indicated small groups of 15 or 20 pickets would be permitted in the vicinity of the plant gates.

[illegible] Men are offered [illegible] that will [illegible] them [illegible] give [illegible] that will [illegible] beau [illegible] and above all [illegible] their [illegible].

And [illegible] so many [illegible] wonder why [illegible] they are not [illegible] and why they can't [illegible] to that [illegible] girl of the [illegible].

◆

MRS. FANNY H. BENSON was hostess at a dinner and bridge last evening at the Center tearoom on South Main street, complimenting Mrs. Frank E. Farrant whose wedding of last May was announced recently. A crystal vase filled with garden flowers in pastel tints centered the table at which covers were laid for the honor guest, Mrs. C. W. Fries, Mrs. Edward Brewer, Misses Ruth Porter, Ellen Carter, Etta Carter and Edna S. Dutton and the hostess. Mrs. Farrant, who before her marriage was Miss Margaret Porter, was presented a gift from the guests. Two tables were filled for bridge, awards going to the honor guest and Mrs. Fries.

◆

Mrs. Bertha C. Spohr, great Pocahontas, Mrs. Edith Bryant, past great deputy Pocahontas, Mrs. Hazel Dent and Mrs. Violet Dues, all of Columbus, were guests at a meeting of Minnetonka Council No. 24, Degree of Pocahontas last night in Junior Order hall. Each guest gave a short talk. Minnetonka council presented a gift to Mrs. Spohr, with Mrs. Kate Parish making the presentation speech. The council will have a picnic supper Aug. 23 at Lincoln park, after which there will be a lodge meeting. The Past Pocahontas association will meet Monday at 4 p. m. at the park and will have a picnic supper at 6.

◆

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Lowry were given a miscellaneous shower Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Lowry of 371 Avondale avenue. The couple received many gifts. Following an evening of games and music the hostess served lunch. Mrs. Frank Markley, Mrs. Lizzie Hickman and Mrs. Harvey Fitzwater won contest honors. Guests were Mrs. Emmett Cardwell, Mrs. Hobert Leckel, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Richards and son Eddie, Mrs. Harry Lowry, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hickman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Markley and son Carl, Mr. and Mrs. John Markley, Roy Kutz, Mrs. Mary Markley, Mrs. Frank O'Hara, Mrs. LeRoy Miller, Mr. and Mrs. William Haubert, Mrs. Clinton Lowry, Mrs. Harvey Fitzwater, Herbert Lowry, Junior Lowry, Mrs. Lizzie Hickman, Mrs. Betty Hickman and Mrs. E. BIDS ARE OPENED BY COMMISSIONERS

Boards Act on Project in Two Counties.

A bid of $4,971.21, submitted by the General Dredging Co., Inc., of Fort Wayne, Ind., for the improvement of the Otter creek in Marion and Morrow counties, was provisionally accepted yesterday by the joint board of county commissioners of the two counties at a meeting in Mt. Gilead.

The bid calls for assistance of CCC boys from the camp at Delaware and was accepted subject to approval by the district CCC headquarters at Milwaukee, Wis., commissioners said.

The General Dredging Co. was the only bidder. It submitted two bids, the second one not being based on assistance of the CCC boys and amounting to $6,065.28. K. B. Graham, Morrow county engineer, had estimated the work to cost $7,067.61.

Otter creek runs through Canaan township in Morrow county and Claridon township in Marion county. The improvement work is expected to begin within a few weeks, providing the bid receives the approval of CCC officials, and is to be completed within 100 days from the time it is started.

Plans Progressing for Club's Jinx Dance On Friday

REPORTS on the progress of plans for the Friday the Thirteenth jinx dance to be given Friday evening at Rainbow Gardens, by the Beta Phalanx club were made at a meeting last evening in the club room at the Y. Roger Morgan, president, presided.

"Mystery" is the keynote of the plans which are not being divulged to anyone outside the club membership, and reports of the various chairmen promise an evening of gaiety and fun.

Tickets are moving rapidly, Sylvester Lucas, ticket chairman, reported, and the decorations are in the "making," Rodney Mapes, chairman of the program committee and his assistants Max Sechrist and Harold Underwood, reported. Robert Welch, who is working with the program committee is in charge of the novelty arrangements. The hosts and their guests will be joined Friday evening by Clarence Lenz, boys' work secretary at the Y, and Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Finney. Dr. Finney is club leader.

Bob McMahan's orchestra will play and the dance will be in the form of a "sports" frolic.

Black Spider

RECENTLY I told you about the evil effects which sometimes follow the sting of the honey bee. Today I want to tell you about the dangers of the black spider bite. This may be a serious accident and everyone should be familiar with what this harmless-looking insect can do.

Those who specialize in the study of poisons compare the poison of a black spider to that of the venom of a rattlesnake. In fact, some believe that spider poison is worse than that of the rattlesnake.

If this is true, it indicates the importance of being able to recognize this dangerous insect. There are many species, but the black spider is the most dreaded. It is found in many parts of the country. It is most commonly met in the west, usually in the summer or early fall.

The black spider, also known as the "black widow" and the "shoe button" spider, is dangerous because of the nature of the poison it carries. The female of the species is more dangerous than the male. This is because of its larger quantity of the dangerous venom or poison.

The victim of a bite of this insect complains of intense pain all over the body. This comes on with suddenness, producing great prostration and every evidence of serious illness. When friends and family are unconscious that there has been a spider bite, it may be impossible accurately to determine the cause of the collapse.

Fortunately, few cases are as bad as this, and recovery occurs within a few days. Recently a vaccine has been prepared from the venom of the black spider. It is hoped that this will ultimately be used to prevent bad effects from this cause. This investigation is still in the experimental stage.

In a few cases, tetanus anti-toxin has been successfully used in the treatment of some cases of spider bite. In other instances, relief has been obtained by the administration of blood serum obtained from a person who has recovered from a spider bite.

Never overlook the dangers of this bite. Do not give whiskey in the emergency treatment, but send for the doctor at once. If necessary, he will give an opiate or other sedative.

CHAPTER FORTY-EIGHT

Fire Claims Its Own

[illegible] broken words, Marion [illegible] her father had come [illegible] mysterious absence, [illegible] she had discovered that [illegible] firebug that everyone [illegible].

"[illegible] know what he was do[illegible]" [illegible] moaned. "For a whole [illegible] been himself. He [illegible] after he got back, and [illegible] days he was as helpless as a baby. Then, he suddenly began raving, and declaring that he must get back to his fire. It was awful! He talked as though the fire was a child! Again and again he would say, 'It's calling me! It needs me!' Let me go!"

Marion buried her face in her hands, and Kay put her arms around her in silent sympathy.

"Time after time," Marion went on, "he'd try to get up and go, but he was too weak. I counted on that to save him until his frenzy should pass over. But one evening, when I had gone out for water, I came back to find him gone."

"How terrible! What did you do?"

"I acted like a crazy thing, I guess," Marion answered. "I ran in every direction, calling until my voice went completely. I never dared get too far from here, for fear he would come back and not find me. After searching all night, I gave up. There was nothing to do but wait. It was the next night that Ted appeared after I had about decided that I would just head out at random for the fire. I'd gathered a general idea of where it was, and I was crazy enough to do anything. Ted brought me back to my senses, and said he would go after my father himself, if I would promise to wait here. It's too soon to expect news, I suppose, but it's terrible, waiting without word of any kind."

For some time, the two girls clung together, the thought of each filled with foreboding for her own loved one.

"Don't you think we ought to go and try to find them?" Kay said at last.

Marion shook her head. "Terrible as it is to wait, I'm sure it's the only thing to do. I promised, and some how I have faith that Ted will get back. They might need our help desperately, and if we started out, we'd be almost sure to miss them."

"I'll stay with you, then," Kay declared. "I promised Ted to stay in hiding from Josh Hastings until the trial, and I can do that here as well as anywhere. Then if—I mean, when," she corrected herself with a catch in her voice, "he comes back, I'll be able to see him before he gives himself up."

Marion's face lighted up with the first real smile Kay had seen on it.

"Ted told me how wonderful you were," she said, "and I guess he was about right."

Kay gave a violent dissenting shake of her head, but her heart sang with reckless happiness that not even her fears could dispell.

Duty Despite Risk.

When Ted left Marion on his quest for her father, he pointed down the south ridge, heading for the faint distant glow that illumined the southern sky. It was a cloudy night, but no stars were needed to guide him to the fire.

He did not minimize to himself the danger of going into the fire-fighting region, where he would be almost sure to run across some one who would recognize him. But he never questioned his duty in the matter.

Marion had saved his life. It was up to him to save her father if he could, without regard to his own safety. There was a slender chance that in the excitement of the fire his presence would pass unheeded, if not unnoticed, and it was up to him to do his best for Marion.

Obviously, the strength of his position in the trial would be greatly diminished if he was captured, instead of giving himself up, but that was no longer the main consideration. He reflected bitterly that nothing much mattered, anyway, now that he knew his love for Kay could never come to anything. Blighted as it was, by the knowledge of her treachery.

Marion, at least, had been true, so he owed all his effort to her. He could hear again Marion's indignant incredulity when he had told her of Kay's betrayal. But her violent repudiation of Kay as being unworthy of him was cold comfort.

Hour after hour passed as Ted pushed his way south. He could get a better idea of the extent of the conflagration now, and he marveled how it could ever have had such a start. Marion's father must have spent several days penetrating to the spot where he had first set the blaze. The place had been chosen with diabolical cleverness, as far as remoteness was concerned.

At last Ted reached the final ridge but one that separated him from the fire, and he drew up with an exclamation at the magnificence and terror of the wholesale destruction.

It must have been three miles or so away with an intervening lower ridge that from this point of vantage in no way obstructed the view. Even at this distance, the whole scene was lighted up and the air was filled with smoke and the bitter sweet smell of burning pines.

Ted could see where they were fighting it on the western flank, and trying to restrict the front by pinching it out. It was a practically hopeless task, as the fire had undoubtedly originated as a crown fire, and they always proved almost impossible to put out.

For the moment the wind had died down, and it almost looked as though the impossible had a chance of achievement. The immediate problem for Ted, however, was not the putting out of the fire, but the finding of Marion's father.

Knowing how Old Man Howell was carried away by his frenzied craze, Ted hadn't a doubt but that he was somewhere in the thick of the fire fighting, gloating with all a madman's cunning, while he seemed to be helping to put it out.

The question was, which flank had he chosen? Deciding that the western one seemed more spectacular, Ted headed down the slope, and plunged into the canyon that divided it from the lower intervening ridge.

He worked his way along, urging his mount in spite of his increasing restiveness around windfalls and up the slope, slippery with pine needles. He tried to figure out how long it would be before this, too, would be ablaze.

A Fatal "Blaze-Fire."

Finally Ted topped the intervening ridge and paused again, estimating the blaze to be at least a 50- or 75-mile fire. He decided to leave his mount here. Swinging to the ground he tethered his horse to a tree and walked to a bare ledge of rock from which he could see the whole panorama.

As he watched, he suddenly saw a blaze spring up not half a mile away, and a long distance from the main conflagration. He muttered a horrified oath, realizing he was witnessing that rare and terrible phenomenon, a "blaze-fire." Generated from the heat around it, a dry part will sometimes explode and burst into flames. From this kind of fire, no one ever gets out to tell the tale.

Recognizing that this new development would probably eventually doom the ridge on which he was standing, Ted nevertheless could not resist the temptation to run down for a nearer view. There also was the chance that he could be of assistance to anyone who might have been caught on the outskirts of the sudden explosion.

As he ran down the slope, he saw, outlined against the flames, a man stagger a few steps and then pitch headlong to the ground. He raced to him, bent over the prostrate form and instantly recognized Marion's father from the description she had given. The gray hair and bushy eyebrows were singed and he was badly burned about the face and hands.

Opening his eyes, he stared straight at Ted, his labored breathing coming in slower and slower gasps. Suddenly, with an incredible display of strength, he pushed Ted aside and rose to his feet. He faltered for a moment, then fell with a crash to the ground.

One look at the staring eyes, and Ted knew that his quest was ended. He stood still a moment, gazing at the pathetic figure at his feet. Should he try to take the body back to Marion?

With a shudder, he turned away. No, it would be cruel to take back that body, burned and disfigured as it was! Better for Marion to picture her father as she had always known him, and to think of him as having perished in the element that, in his madness, had held such a compelling lure for him.

How much better it was, after all, than to have him live, and face either imprisonment or an insane asylum for life! Ted looked down again at all that was left of Marion's father, lost for a moment in musing on the strangeness of life and death, and the fitness of the end that had overtaken this poor old man.

Ted captures his enemy, Josh Hastings, tomorrow.

DRAMATIC RADIO SERIES PLANNED

Still another dramatic series is being lined up for this fall. It will be called "Grand Central Station," each play a complete sketch of 30 minutes duration with its starting point in New York's downtown railroad depot. The program will be on WJZ-NBC at 9:30 p. m. Tuesdays, beginning late in September.

Programs tomorrow: Allen Prescott on "P's and Q's" at 5 p. m. over WEAF-NBC, questions before the congress at 2:30 over WABC-CBS; farm and home hour at 12:30 over WJZ-NBC.

PUPILS' VACATION DAYS ARE NUMBERED

Schools Here Will Reopen Early in September, Superintendents Say.

Vacation days are numbered for the thousands of school boys and girls in Marion city and county.

Four weeks from today, Sept. 7, the Marion county schools open, it was announced from the office of Supt. D. T. Mills.

City school pupils will have an added day of grace, beginning their nine months of study on Wednesday, Sept. 8. Annual meeting of teachers with their principals will be held on Tuesday.

Opening date has not been definitely set for St. Mary Parochial school children, but it will be some time around the dates announced by the city and county schools.

A national commission has been appointed in Argentina to coordinate and regulate all land and water transportation services.

Marriage Meddlers

BY ADELE GARRISON

Party Leaves Restaurant and Arrives at the Camp to Find That Dicky Is Missing

HARRY UNDERWOOD'S air of thwarted boredom as he finished his quasi apology to his stepdaughter and her companion for his lecture was a most artistic thing. And he and Lillian managed things so that there was no further chance for speech, either resentful or apologetic, on the part of either girl until we were all in the Underwood car.

"Keep all together," he ordered "just inside the entrance door, until I bring the car around right in front. Then pile in promptly and we'll be on our way."

He was taking no chances of letting the girls get separated ever so slightly from the rest of us, I mentally commented, and wondered if it were general caution or some special uneasiness that was prompting his acts. But his precautions, happily, were unneeded. Our passage to the door and into the car was uneventful save for the bows of the waiters, plainly gratified by their tips.

Lecture Has Effect?

I watched the girls narrowly, especially Carolyn, and was conscious that Lillian also had her eyes on them. But there was no slightest side glance of theirs toward the orchestra, although I saw that the cellist and the violinist, who had sat in on them, were furtively eyeing our progress toward the door. Whether Harry Underwood's words had been as effective as we all had hoped we could not tell, but at least their present behavior was irreproachable.

We settled ourselves comfortably in the car, Lillian in the seat beside her husband, Marion, Carolyn and I on the big rear seat, and the two boys on the chair seats of the limousine. It was several seconds after we drew away from the door of the restaurant before anyone spoke.

Then Hank, the irrepressible, broke the silence which I guessed would have continued indefinitely if his chattering had been left to the humiliated and resentful girls.

"Looks as if those gangsters were still going," he said. "That was some stunt of yours, all right, Aunt Madge."

Bill and the girls echoed his comment with an eagerness that betrayed their relief at getting away from the subject which had so disturbed them. Then Lillian intervened peremptorily.

"Stop the car, Harry," she said, "and, Madge, you change seats with me. I'll fix some pillows at the side of the car here and you can sleep. I'll sit back with the youngsters and they can jabber to their heart's content. They won't disturb me, and you won't hear 'em once the car's motion gets its usual effect on you. I've never seen the time when you couldn't drop off to sleep, sitting up in a car. And you certainly need it after that crack on the head that gangster lookout gave you. How does it feel now, by the way?"

"All right," I fibbed promptly, although my head was aching.

"Which means it feels like the hinges of the hot place," she retorted promptly as she climbed down from her seat and, with swift sure motions, installed me in her place and made me as comfortable as possible with the soft pillows which are always a part of her car equipment, as of mine.

Allowed to Sleep

"Thank you so much," I said gratefully as my aching head settled into the cushions and I relaxed for the first time since we had started upon the evening excursion which had given us so many hectic moments. After all I told myself, I was the only sufferer, with an injury not at all serious; the girls, I hope, had had a valuable if drastic lesson, and we had managed to give Dicky's orphaned nephews a share of the vacation good times which they otherwise would have missed.

If only the Canadian collegians had returned to their native land, baffled in their attempt to locate Marion and Carolyn. That was the thought upon which I drifted into slumber, and the thought bumping of the car over the last few yards of rough wood road brought me back to reality.

It was reality tinged with anxiety, however, for Dicky's car was not in the garage, and after the young people, tired and sleepy, had gone to their respective cabins, Harry, Lillian and I kept a long but unavailing vigil for him.

Marion To Clash With Hawaiian Nine Thursday Night

Battling Bulgar Beaned By Angered Shovel Fan

Steve Nenoff Loses to Silent Rattan, Referee and Detective; Hollis Floors Travis in Hectic Rassling Show.

Except for the collapse of the roof, just about everything else happened at last night's hectic session of the honorable grunt and groan profession, at the indoor arena in the Marion Steam Shovel gymnasium.

Kansas City's mute, Silent Rattan, won over Steve Nenoff of Bulgaria, in a one-hour bout that had fans clamoring for the Bulgarian's scalp and tough man Ken Hollis won in two consecutive falls of Ted "The Innocent," Travis of Hollywood, Calif.

Even though Rattan won his bout, Nenoff's rough treatment of the silent one and his eagerness to continue the scrap, led to trouble with the spectators. After the nod was given to Rattan, the Bulgarian carried on the battle with Referee Charlie Burgette.

One rabid fan, reported to be a railroad detective, followed Nenoff to the dressing room and clipped him over his bald knob with a black jack. Nenoff absorbed the blow and it almost became a free-for-all before handlers stepped in to halt the fracas. Nenoff's attacker, who entered the gymnasium on his badge, was given the bum's rush after the incident occurred, but not until after he had threatened bodily violence to almost everyone within hearing.

Crowd Likes Silence

The Nenoff-Rattan bout went the full hour time limit with the crowd favoring the silent grappler from the opening bell. Nenoff had handicapped himself by agreeing that he would need two consecutive falls to win over his lighter opponent. The handicap didn't mean much and Rattan's clever feinting and side-stepping found the Bulgarian looking much like a caged monkey.

Using a palm jolt to the head, Rattan kept the Bulgarian so tired that Nenoff wasn't able to get to first base with his line of retaliation. The Kansas City husky kept clear of Nenoff's attacking only when he found an opportunity to land a blow and clear out before the heavy Bulgarian could counter.

During the closing five minutes, Rattan came near scoring the fall on a deadly Indian deathlock, but Nenoff managed to edge through the ropes just before the final gong. After the bell, as Rattan offered to shake hands, Nenoff hurled only curses in his direction and got in return the mute's sign language message that even small boys would understand.

Nenoff then carried his argument to Ref. Burgette, and the pair tangled in the ring, while Rattan wended his way to the dressing room. Aroused fans swarmed to the ringside and Nenoff left just as the most ired of the spectators were climbing into the ring. The Bulgarian was the victim of a surprise attack when he was struck with the black jack in the dressing room, but went down only momentarily.

Second Match Short

The entire Travis-Hollis melee lasted only 19 ring minutes, with Hollis taking the first fall on a disqualification and the second with a rolling leg spread. Ref. Burgette stepped in to stop the first round after the brown skinned and toothless Travis had resorted to his favorite sport of finger splitting. Ted was disqualified after he repeatedly wrapped Hollis' arm over the top strands of the rope.

Charging robbery and larceny after he lost the fall, Travis gained no friends among the crowd for his rough display. He returned and the exchange of blows was progressing at a merry clip when he stopped to argue with the referee about the legality of a hold he had been applying. Hollis seized not only the opportunity but also both of Travis' legs and everything went round and round as he applied a rolling leg spread. Travis was pinned with the spread hold. The second and decisive round ended in six minutes.

Vic Jarboe of Evansville, Ind., and Teddy Watters of Gallup, N. M., tangled in a fast 20-minute preliminary that went to a draw. Gene Morris, a member of Marion's Ohio State league baseball team, refereed the prelim. Burgette, the official for the main bouts, made his debut here and fans seem agreed that his officiating was the tops of any seen here recently.

After opening its week's schedule against Mansfield this afternoon, Marion's Ohio State league baseball club is scheduled to be in action before home fans in four other games this week, including an exhibition encounter under the floodlights Thursday night and a Sunday afternoon doubleheader with Tiffin.

Marion will be on the road tomorrow and Thursday, traveling to Fremont and Findlay for circuit encounters, and returning here Thursday night for the exhibition game with Buck Lai's Hawaiian baseball club. After being host to the Fremont Reds, Friday, Marion will wind up the week's activity with the twin bill program.

For the exhibition game Thursday night, the visiting Hawaiians will bring with them a portable lighting system. While Marion is playing at Findlay in the afternoon, the equipment will be set up in preparation for the start of the exhibition at 8:30 o'clock.

The Hawaiians are led by Buck Lai, who although 42 has plenty of what it takes to click on the diamond. He is the fastest man on the grass skirt squad with the exception of his son Buck Lai, Jr., who plays in the outfield. He organized the club three years ago and after extended tours in United States, reorganized a team early this season.

Team Has Stars

Among the members of this year's team are Kay Kibuhu, who was considered the greatest defensive star of the Hawaiian Islands. He has earned for himself the native title of "Ia," which means basket, because every time the ball is hit into his outfield pasture it's usually registered as a put out.

Baseball fans who witness the exhibition game will have another treat in store for them when the widely known Miss Jackie Mitchell of Chattanooga, Tenn., takes part

400 BOATS ENTER LAKE ERIE REGATTA

By The Associated Press

PUT-IN-BAY, O., Aug. 10. The Inter-Lake Yachting association starting today the second half of its annual regatta had set a new record for the largest fleet of sailing craft attending events of the four-day program. More than 400 boats have been drawn to Put-In-Bay for the regatta, Commodore Edgar T. Wolfe of Columbus said. Sail yacht races today and tomorrow continued to hold chief attention.

REPORT RAFT SEEKS RUTH AS MANAGER

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 10—Film actor George Raft will fly east within 48 hours, an unconfirmed report said today, to seek Babe Ruth's contract as manager of a Hollywood club in the Pacific Coast baseball league.

Raft will sponsor the club if Ruth signs, the report said. The Hollywood franchise was shifted to San Diego in 1936.

AKRON NINE CHAMP

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Aug. 9—The Akron Atlantic Foundries, Ohio semi-pro baseball champions, will tangle with the Waverly, Ia., Black Spiders Aug. 16 in first round games of the national tournament at Wichita, Kan. The Akron team defeated the Florence-Wehrle Stoves of Newark there Saturday, 4 to 2, to win the state championship for the second consecutive year.

BASEBALL MIRACLE!
TWO YEARS AGO HAFEY WAS AN INVALID, SUFFERING FROM SEVERE SINUS TROUBLE --- DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP HIM..
THEN-- SUDDENLY THIS SPRING HE RECOVERED HIS HEALTH--
NOW THE MAN THAT NO ONE THOUGHT WOULD EVER PLAY BALL AGAIN IS BACK AS A REGULAR WITH THE CINCY REDS!
CINCINNATI
CHICK HAFEY

When Chick Hafey was forced into retirement by severe sinus trouble, no one thought he would ever play ball again. The bespectacled slugger, once one of the National league's big berthas, was turned into an invalid by the painful ailment.

Two years ago it seemed that his was a hopeless case. Doctors could do little for him. His weight dropped to 30 pounds below normal, and the least bit of physical exertion left him exhausted. His system was full of poison, the medicos said, but beyond this diagnosis, they were unable to be of much help.

Then, miracle of miracles! The courageous Chick began to shake off the illness. Mysteriously, the poisons in his system vanished, and his weight went back to normal. Hafey felt so good last May that he insisted on trying a comeback with the Cincinnati Reds.

Boss Chuck Dressen was dubious about the erstwhile invalid at first, especially since Chick had missed the spring training season, but his doubts soon were dispelled. With the flag race in full swing, Hafey stepped right into the regular lineup of the Reds, and took over the cleanup position in the batting order.

Dressen insists that this veteran's comeback is the most amazing feat of the year.

HAMBLETONIAN RACE SET FOR TOMORROW

By The Associated Press

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 10—Greyhound, the big five-year-old gelding which has been America's premier trotter since he burst into fame as a two-year-old, will bid for further glory today when he assaults the mile record of 1:56¾ set by the legendary Peter Manning in 1922.

For a day at least Greyhound will divert the crowd's attention from Wednesday's 12th running of the Hambletonian stakes, main event of the week of Grand circuit racing at Goshen. As a three-year-old Greyhound won the Hambletonian with Sep Palin, who will drive him today, as his driver.

SOFTBALL DELAYED BY OLD MAN RAIN

Monday night games in the No. 2 Sunday school softball league were postponed because of rain. The contests, which composed the thirteenth round on the 15-game schedule, will be played at a later date.

Tonight No. 1 league Sunday school teams will clash on the city diamonds. One game, matching Wesley No. 1 and Trinity Baptist was postponed, because several of the members of the Wesley team are taking part in an exhibition game being played in connection with the LaRue Sportsmen's club picnic being held today.

TWO KENTON PARK TEAMS WIN TITLES

JOE DIMAGGIO SEEKS FIRST BOSTON HOMER IN 4-GAME SERIES

Red Sox Pitchers Unkind to Slugger; Cleveland Entertains St. Louis Browns.

By BILL BONI
Associated Press Writer

There's an explosion due in Boston any day now and, if the citizens of the Hub—especially those in and about Fenway Park—haven't taken the proper precautions, then it's all their own fault.

Opening a three-day, four-game stand there this afternoon with his fellow New York Yankees was Joseph DiMaggio, the stylish San Francisco crab fisherman who also is the major league's most stylish producer of home runs.

That in itself is not so startling. Everybody knows about DiMaggio, both as a crab fisherman and a home run producer. More surprising is the fact that Fenway Park is the only American league ball lot in which DiMaggio has not yet touched off one of his four-base specialties.

Besides needing to catch up on that Boston pitching, Jolting Joe needs to catch up with his home run production. He hasn't delivered for exactly a week. On this date ten years ago, Ruth clouted No. 36 in his 109th game. Joe, for the 95 games, including two ties which the Yanks have played, has 32.

In the American league, besides the Yanks and Boston, Washington was at home to the Athletics and Chicago was at Detroit and St. Louis at Cleveland.

In the National league the Cubs, six games in front, opened against the Pirates at Chicago. Of their three western rivals, the Bucs have been toughest for the bruins, having a record of six victories and five defeats. The Cardinals took on the Reds, the Giants returned home to meet the Bees and the Dodgers, dropping dangerously close to the cellar, visited the last-place Phillies.

CRESTLINE EAGLES WIN OVER SHELBY

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, O., Aug. 9—Crestline Eagles baseball team Sunday defeated Shelby Settlement House, 1-0, in one of the hardest fought games of the season.

With Supon on the mound for the Eagles, the Settlement nine collected but three hits while 11 went the strike out route and two received passes.

Fried was on mound for the Settlement and allowed six hits and struck out 13 men allowing no one to reach first by a walk.

Crestline scored their only run in their half of the fifth inning after two men had been retired. Supon, third man up hit for three bases and scored when Eckert who followed hit a two bagger.

RED BIRDS DEFEAT MILWAUKEE, 13 TO 6; MOVE NEARER LEAD

Millers Split Double Bill With Louisville; Toledo Wins Over Blues, 12-3.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 — When there's any doubt about their pitching holding up, the fence-busting Minneapolis Millers have a consistent habit of coming through with ample power at the plate.

They demonstrated yesterday at the expense of Louisville. Jim Henry pitched four-hit ball in the opener of a double bill to down the Colonels 3 to 1 for his [illegible] win of the season.

The Kels, apparently satisfied that Henry had the situation under control, collected only [illegible] hits off Jim Peterson.

In the second game, with the Colonels hitting more often, the Millers' wrecking crew went to work and scored 11 runs in six innings as the Colonels were getting one marker. The game was called in the last of the seventh because of rain.

Indianapolis defeated St. Paul 10 to 6 in a contest which saw 23 players left on base. Vance Page went the distance for the Tribe as his mates fell on Bobby Coombs and Johnny Welch for 19 hits. Indianapolis had 15 men stranded on the sacks and the Saints 14.

Columbus kept up its fast pace by downing Milwaukee 13 to 6 in a night game. Bill McGee went the route and held the Brewers to 10 hits. The Red Birds collected 13 safeties off Kimball and Boone.

Toledo handed Kansas City a 12 to 3 whipping in another night tilt, the Mud Hens hammering out 17 blows as Alta Cohen pitched eight-hit ball.

Two More Weeks

There [illegible] Washington [illegible] have their eye on Aug. 21 as adjournment [illegible] far.

The country [illegible] will [illegible] have more than two weeks of the congress all to [illegible] to enjoy [illegible] as the case may be.

Everybody [illegible] when congress adjourns. It relieves tension. [illegible] prevails that everything is safer when representatives and senators are at home. Constituents apparently distrust them when they get into the hands of the political slickers in Washington.

It seems sometimes that Americans are least trustful of their vaunted representative democracy when it is working at full speed [illegible] during a legislative session. They think law is a sure cure until congress passes [illegible]. Then it always turns out to be wrong according to at least half of them.

Ideally, congress works in close contact with the people. The present congress can trace much of its trouble to the fact it has not had the advantage of this relationship. Rather it has been charged with the task of legislating a program which the people did not understand.

Confused by many things they did not understand, annoyed by the headstrong attitude of the administration and lacking definite [illegible] from home, congressmen balked. At the end of the first seven months of the session they had enacted only three outstanding pieces of legislation.

In the next two weeks the record of accomplishment may be swelled by last minute activity. The fact that an adjournment date has been named, however, suggests the strategy is going to be to put off as much of the new deal's legislative work as possible till 1938, when congressmen may have a clearer idea of what voters back home expect of them.

That's Different.

Thomas Kennedy, lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania and vice president of United Mine Workers, is angry because the state department is going to allow importation of 100,000 tons of Russian anthracite under a new trade agreement with this country.

Mr. Kennedy says the state department shouldn't have power which rightfully belongs to congress. He sees a resemblance to the supreme court, favorite whipping boy of disgruntled new dealers.

It happens that reciprocal trade agreements are as much a part of the new deal as the national labor relations act, which Mr. Kennedy has found much to his liking. Both spring from the same theory—that wide discretionary power should be placed in the hands of a strong national government which knows best what is good for the people.

Mr. Kennedy's dissent to the power to make trade agreements seems worth recording as an indication that even under the new deal who still depends on whose ox is gored.

An Experiment in Preaching

Rev. R. W. [illegible], pastor of First Reformed church of Canton (population 110,000) and Rev. P. L. [illegible], pastor of Bloomville Reformed church of Bloomville, O., (population 500) recently traded churches for two weeks in an interesting experiment which has given each a new viewpoint on pastoral duties.

Each moved with his family into the other's parsonage and, as far as possible, assumed the other's life and daily duties.

The city pastor milked the village pastor's cow, picked cherries from his ripening trees, gathered vegetables from his large garden for daily use, hobnobbed with the villagers and saw life as it is lived in a hospitable little American community.

The village pastor put in two busy weeks of strenuous city life. He saw a great industrial strike at first hand, he inspected the equipment which it takes to operate a city, he attended civic meetings and met a variety of people ranging from labor leaders to the national marble champion.

Each preached to a strikingly different group just as he would have preached to his own congregation. Each came home from an experience which combined the pleasures of a happy vacation with the practical benefits of actually living among surroundings which gave a new viewpoint on many of the things of life.

It is an idea which might be adopted advantageously not only by preachers but by men in many walks of life. The line of demarcation between the city and the village and farm is entirely too sharply drawn. Such an interchange of experience in actual living makes each more understanding of the problems of the other.

Story Behind The Wage Bill

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1937, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—The story behind the [illegible] wage bill is a classic example of how President Roosevelt [illegible] John Lewis [illegible] William Green [illegible] Sidney Hillman [illegible].

Originally Mr. Green of the A. F. of L. was [illegible]. He has always favored minimum wages for women [illegible] but he [illegible] federal regulation. He preferred [illegible].

Lewis [illegible] was indifferent to the proposal though he was more interested than Mr. Green. [illegible] the man who really wanted the bill put through was Sidney Hillman [illegible] garment workers and one of the [illegible] in the leadership of the CIO. [illegible] the Garment workers [illegible] Mr. Lewis probably [illegible] the CIO. Mr. Hillman [illegible] federal [illegible] into the picture so as to help him [illegible] southern textile mills.

President Roosevelt wanted the legislation because of [illegible]. He thought it would be [illegible] for the 1936 campaign [illegible] interested in [illegible] at [illegible] they actually [illegible] ahead to get the bill passed.

But with Mr. Green [illegible] Mr. Lewis indifferent, the President [illegible] Hillman [illegible] contrary to Mr. Hillman [illegible] certain [illegible] legislation was [illegible] Mr. Hillman [illegible].

Then the President [illegible] Mr. Lewis [illegible] Hillman's interest in the measure. The next step was to bring William Green [illegible]. By pointing out that the CIO leader was in favor of the legislation, Mr. Green was told that it would [illegible] his [illegible] to seem to [illegible] labor's behalf.

Then came Mr. Green's insistence on concessions [illegible] which the President agreed [illegible] that even if the house passed the bill [illegible] in conference [illegible] Mr. Green concurred [illegible] the A. F. of L. who had always opposed [illegible]. Finally John P. Frey of the A. F. of L. executive council publicly [illegible] that a considerable element in the A. F. of L. [illegible] the legislation.

The safeguards in the form of amendments obtained by Mr. Green [illegible] into the bill [illegible] such extent [illegible] to violate the legislation [illegible] the supreme court will ever validate the right of congress to fix minimum wages when made subject to the approval of labor unions or subject to some previous [illegible] by the unions. This is a delegation of power somewhat like that which was denounced in the NRA when Justice Cardozo spoke of "delegation run riot."

Theoretically congress makes the laws and occasionally delegates the task of writing regulations to a federal commission or board. [illegible] the house bill stands the law will be [illegible] by labor union executives and employers who [illegible] agree on [illegible] standards for a [illegible] and what they do will affect [illegible] and employers. The wealthy businessmen will find it an excellent opportunity [illegible] weaker competitors [illegible] but the new deal doesn't seem to mind how much the small businessman is hit so long as the monopoly [illegible].

Another feature of the legislation which ought not to be [illegible] vast discretionary powers [illegible] in the proposed federal labor standards board and this is not [illegible] to have real judicial [illegible]. Political [illegible] will find their [illegible] work with [illegible] which [illegible] bureaucrats in fixing [illegible] which under the new deal [illegible] thriving [illegible] and abetted [illegible] the sale of campaign books at fabulous prices. [illegible] could never accomplish as much as it does today [illegible] action especially where discretion is vested by congress in a [illegible] commission or board.

[illegible] the federal government ought to have more power over minimum wages [illegible] been neglected in the past [illegible] in the government [illegible] knows no limits to [illegible] special privileges, then the average man can well wonder whether the so-called gains of what has been termed social legislation are not offset by the [illegible] that grew up as bureaucracy takes more and more in the citizen's private affairs.

China's Army

What's going to happen when—and if—China's Central army smashes [illegible] against the Japanese military machine? No one knows but Glenn Babb, an experienced foreign correspondent who returned to America recently after years abroad, gives here his best guesses.

* * *

BY GLENN BABB

Associated Press Foreign Service Writer

THE question of how [illegible] of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Central Chinese army will [illegible] the Japanese must [illegible] question.

That is, will Chiang risk [illegible]?

[illegible] would [illegible] its [illegible] but also Chiang's [illegible] as China's No. 1 man.

China, or various [illegible] of China, have been fighting Japan for six years. And never yet has Chiang risked his crack troops.

They are the greater part of his political capital. If he smashes them against the Japanese as other Chinese armies have been smashed, he will have shot his wad and lost.

One of China's Best

But if the clash does come these modernly drilled [illegible] will put up a much better fight than the shabbily equipped [illegible] the Japanese have encountered thus far.

Near Nanking, General Chiang maintains an ambitious training school.

For six years German officers numbering about 50 have been working with the Chinese. Their chief is General Falkenhausen, formerly [illegible] Reichswehr.

The system has been [illegible] division to move to Nanking and go through the mill for several months. [illegible] estimates that [illegible] perhaps 450,000 men—[illegible]. But they are [illegible] quality varies.

The German instructors [illegible] Chinese soldiers and junior officers is almost equal to Japanese regulars in localized combat. But the Chinese high command knows very little about handling large bodies of troops.

The Japanese, moreover, will have great superiority in mechanization, artillery and probably in airplanes.

[illegible] morale that of the Chinese armies has not been tested, while most of the Japanese are [illegible] with an almost fanatical willingness to die for their emperor.

Whirlwinds To Reap.

Friends of peace may be gaining some [illegible] in a roundabout way. [illegible] they have a telling argument to use on the politicians and alleged statesmen. Their points are:

(1) Uncertainty of political conditions and restlessness of populations due to uncertainty make it virtually certain that no government now existing could conduct a war without being overthrown.

(2) Even the dictatorships which are the desperate resource of populations that have everything to gain and nothing to lose could survive only [illegible]. Dictators themselves would be [illegible].

(3) Democracies—France, Great Britain, the United States—probably could not survive. As in China, collecting its forces to make a show of resistance to Japan's rampant nationalism [illegible] would be dictatorship.

When dictatorships fail, there is nothing but anarchy, the [illegible] which politicians reap from their own ineptitude. To them the pacifists can point out with genuine [illegible] encouragement [illegible] war is a simple proposition of saving their skins or losing them.

Old Industry Ends

BY WELLAND GORDON

United Press Correspondent

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Aug. 10—Waters of Lake Mead, slowly filling up behind Boulder Dam, today are wiping out an industry which thrived as far back as 700 A. D.

The old [illegible] salt mine, with a mountain of salt [illegible] feet high [illegible] by scientists to have been worked by Indians as early as the start of the [illegible] century, is beginning to disappear. [illegible] away by the man made lake, residents are wondering if the great pile of salt will contaminate the waters to any extent.

Several years ago the ancient salt mine attracted scientists from afar when evidences were discovered that man in the dawn of history had engaged in industry there. Digging tools fashioned from [illegible] tied together with leather thongs were dug up. The [illegible] proved, said archaeologists, that the mine was the base of one of the principal workings of the Pueblo Indians who inhabited the territory from about 700 A. D. until about 1200 A. D.

The more modern history of the mine started in our own early western days when the first of the Bonelli family, emigrating from Switzerland, settled in the S[illegible]. They [illegible] and became influential in its development.

Then the Bonellis, according to [illegible], organized the Virgin River Salt company and operated the mine and a salt mill for many years. Finally the Virgin River company died and the mine was worked intermittently by various residents of the area. During the past few years thousands of tons of salt have been taken out.

The old mine lies at the base of the salt mountain but already the rising waters of Lake Mead have covered the road over which millions of tons have been hauled through 14 centuries and today the [illegible] workings are isolated, approachable only by boat.

Each day the waters rise, and soon all trace of the industry of 700 A. D. will be buried under the waters of progress of 1937.

Solomon's Mines

IN SAUDI, on the fringe of the Arabian Desert, is to be found the workings of one of the legendary mines of King Solomon. Historians and archaeologists have variously located Solomon's mines all the way from the Urals to Rhodesia, so that Saudi contends it has a perfect right to its claim. The ancient workings are now owned jointly by the American Smelting and Refining Company and British interests. Engineers are providing a water supply so that actual mining operations may start next year. For all of his mining ownerships King Solomon was not skillful in extracting gold. Experts of American Smelting estimate that the vein runs about $20 a ton, whereas some 400,000 tons of tailings examined indicate a yield of about $11 a ton. In other words, on the basis of the tailings left, King Solomon received about $2,400,000 of gold out of a possible $5,000,000.

Today in Ohio History

BY R. C. HALL

Written for The Associated Press

The fight over the admission of Missouri to the Union caused a [illegible] political strife and finally led [illegible] actual war.

For the first time the greatest statesmen of the North and South were aligned against each other. Ohio was represented in this fight by many prominent persons, among them J. R. Swan, a native of Oneida county, N. Y., who studied law at Columbus and who was elected to the Ohio supreme court by opponents of the Missouri compromise. He later became chief justice of the court.

Missouri became a state Aug. 10, 1821.

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

NEW YORK, Aug. 10—Of all the actions taken by [illegible] since the defeat of the [illegible] bill, the most important [illegible] be the appropriation of $[illegible] for the relief of unemployment. [illegible] one [illegible] has been taken [illegible] how many or [illegible] where they live, congress [illegible] will deprive the President of his authority to allocate [illegible] according to his own [illegible] judgment. It [illegible] of the evil of the system under which congress has given the executive vast sums of money to be distributed as a result of [illegible] negotiation between government [illegible] on the one hand and the President's personal appointees on the other.

Congress has had to [illegible] this system because during the [illegible] emergency congress [illegible] could not know what were the needs in the various communities. But now the emergency [illegible] is virtually over now that the relief population is so to speak composed largely of those who are normally not fully self-dependent. It is feasible to make reasonably reliable estimates of how many, more or less, able-bodied adults there are in each community who cannot or will not take care of themselves. These estimates will enable congress to say how much federal money is to be distributed in each community. There is little doubt that congress will exercise this power as soon as it can.

Both Systems Bad

No one who remembers the history of veterans' legislation and of tariff making will feel altogether happy about the prospect. For he is offered the choice between a presidential fund which finances personal government and the congressional pork barrel which finances the local ambitions of congressmen and senators.

Both systems are bad. The one gives the President more personal power than he ought to have and subordinates congress to his personal will. In the light of recent events one might almost say his personal whim. But the other system, the congressional pork barrel, makes the individual congressman unduly independent. Because he can finance his own re-election out of the public treasury by doing some smart log-rolling with other congressmen, he can thumb his nose at party principle and party discipline and make it impossible for the President to exercise national leadership.

As between the new evil of personal government sustained by the lavish distribution of federal funds and the old evil of the pork barrel there is no [illegible] choice. [illegible] thing to be said for the [illegible] in preference to personal government is this: we are [illegible] and that no so [illegible] on [illegible] mortal man has.

It might also be said that under the pork barrel system the weight of the executive influence is in favor of restraint. As long as congress distributes the money the President for [illegible] financial and personal reasons will be found resisting the demands for money. But when there is a system such as we have now, in which the power and prestige of great spending [illegible] the President's, neither [illegible] the government has an [illegible] incentive to check the extravagance of the other.

Too Much Power

The truth of the matter is that large sums of money cannot be distributed by a central government without impairing the character of the government [illegible]. When those sums can be obtained as they are now obtained without levying taxes on large bodies of voters [illegible] special magic [illegible] out of the thin air, the system is self perpetuating. No politician dependent on votes for reelection can really be trusted with so much power.

For that reason, in so far as money has to be distributed, the only hopeful remedy is to let some kind of nonpartisan and independent body suggest how the money shall be distributed. This principle has been embodied in the new charter of the City of New York. Mr. Roosevelt has talked a lot about planning; why does he not propose to set up independent [illegible]

Relaxation in Haunted Houses

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 10—I have a literary friend whose relaxing moments are spent in prowling around haunted houses late at night and from which he makes models. There is more material than one might imagine. Every town and city neighborhood has its haunted house.

Most of them run to fictional type — lop sided, decayed, with mournful cedars waving gaunt branches across the broken windows. Floors that creak and mumble. And always a grown up garden and an abandoned cistern where someone reputedly fell in one stormy night.

Too the woodshed where feathers floated, drifted and swirled in the still air as the spook passed by. There are in the central section of New York 15 houses difficult to rent. Real estate agents say frankly they are jinxed by ghost rumors.

People in a spirit of bravado often rent houses supposed to be haunted. But the records show they invariably leave within a very short time. They will admit they have never seen a ghost, but they do hear strange noises. The fact is every house has strange noises.

The newest type of Dangerous Lady in the snack bars is the pseudo athletic girl. The half world has thumbs downed on old artifices, realizing they only serve as hands off warnings. That is the rouge pot, the exotic perfume, bright red lips, heavily kohled eyes and the bizarre frock. So the something new in gay deceivers appear as though they had just returned from the golf course with golf bags, etc., or the tennis court with racket in case. All has to stress their innocence—but they employ the same old devices. After a few drinks they mention an off hand "[illegible] little apartment around the corner."

* * *

It was a swell reception Ted Lewis received upon his return to Broadway after a lapse of many years—much longer than the usual piffawmer stays away from the street. For Ted with his battered hat and clarinet began on Broadway in the remembered days of Rectors and doubtless overstayed his welcome because he was beginning to be bracketed among has beens. Sensibly he pulled up stakes and found a hearty reception trouping across the outland. He became an especial favorite in Chicago, where he has been for several years. And so this summer the new generation of New Yorkers as well as the old have been making him feel at home. Lewis was the original delineator of jazz and his methods are in use by many imitators.

* * *

One wonders [illegible] what Ted Lewis' reaction to the present Broadway in contrast to the one he knew so well. There are restaurants in New York today that far excel Rectors, where Ted started, in cuisine, but none has recaptured its glamour. Too, George Rector had a way of making people of importance feel the place was opened solely for them. And of looking through people who didn't matter and jockeying them behind the palms right next to the drummer. Rectors was snooty and there was and still is a vast public that feel flattered when welcomed in the snooty spots.

* * *

Most families of wealth who hire French chefs — paid in instances as high as $12,000 a year — have to employ special pastry cooks. The French know scarcely anything about [illegible]. Their [illegible] is confined to a souffle, a raw peach on a pad of cotton or sliced fruit. Employment agencies say there has arisen a vogue for German cooks the past year and those of that nationality especially skilled find no trouble getting the choice jobs.

* * *

Our grocery delivery boy is a blend of Burgess Meredith and Buddy Ebsen plus a tousle of red hair and plenteous freckles. He comes in whistling or boo-boo-booing in the manner of Bing Crosby. "Every guy I know," he said today, "is sour on the world. That's a lot of peach fuzz. I got my youth, health and a swell girl. We have teamed up in a dancing act and are playing the amateur nights to break in. But some day you'll see us at Loew's State. So with youth, health, a swell girl and a career, can you blame a fellow for being happy?" And somehow you can.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, Aug. 11

According to the lunar transits bearing rule on the affairs of this day there should be a fair measure of progress, success and satisfaction. This applies to employment, business and finance, although the outstanding factor seems to be the prestige and standing.

Those whose birthday it is will find themselves confronted by a year in which their personal popularity and social talents may be considered an asset. Contacts with important personages should be cultivated as opportunities for advancing the position and increasing the possibilities in business, employment and social importance.

A child born on this day may be well endowed with cultural and social talents and may lean toward exploiting these in high [illegible] or in business catering to [illegible].

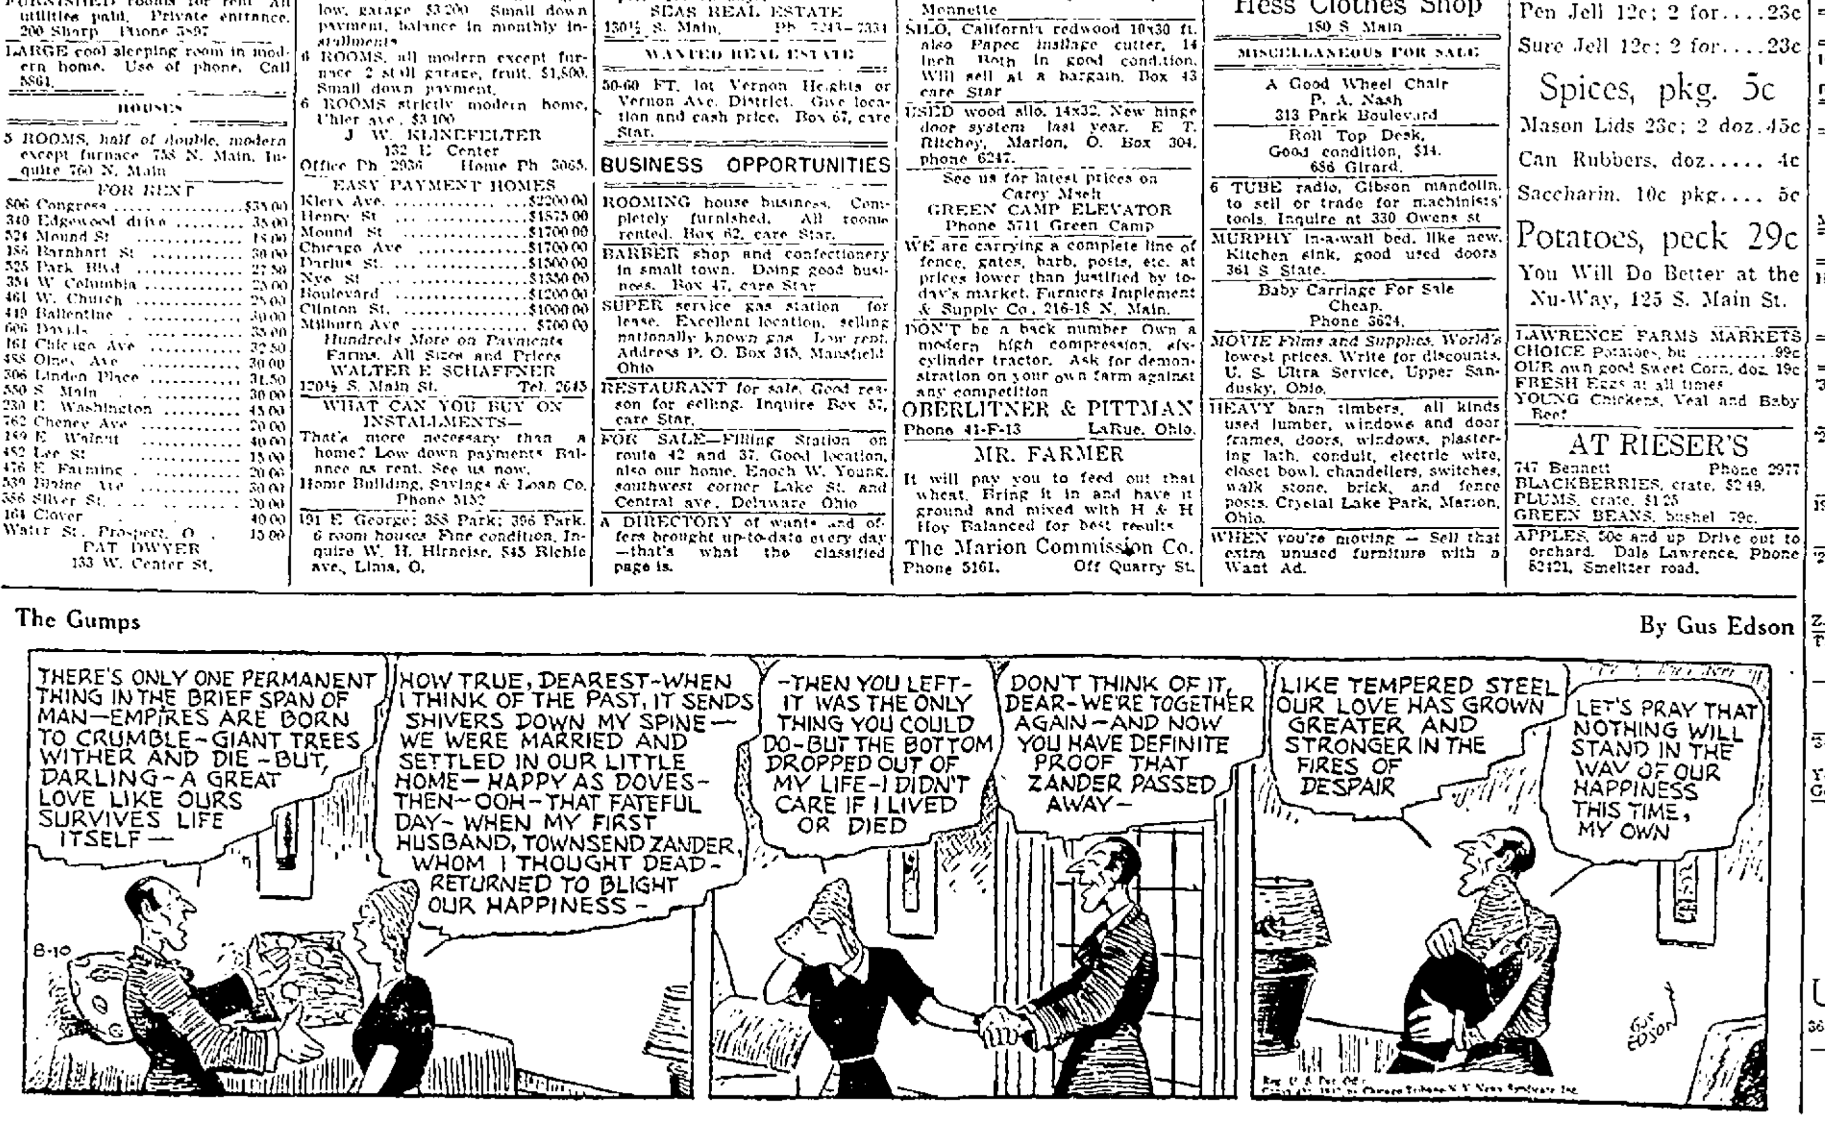
The Gumps By Gus Edson



THERE'S ONLY ONE PERMANENT THING IN THE BRIEF SPAN OF MAN—EMPIRES ARE BORN TO CRUMBLE—GIANT TREES WITHER AND DIE—BUT, DARLING—A GREAT LOVE LIKE OURS SURVIVES LIFE ITSELF—
HOW TRUE, DEAREST—WHEN I THINK OF THE PAST, IT SENDS SHIVERS DOWN MY SPINE—WE WERE MARRIED AND SETTLED IN OUR LITTLE HOME—HAPPY AS DOVES—THEN—OOH—THAT FATEFUL DAY—WHEN MY FIRST HUSBAND, TOWNSEND ZANDER, WHOM I THOUGHT DEAD—RETURNED TO BLIGHT OUR HAPPINESS—
—THEN YOU LEFT—IT WAS THE ONLY THING YOU COULD DO—BUT THE BOTTOM DROPPED OUT OF MY LIFE—I DIDN'T CARE IF I LIVED OR DIED
DON'T THINK OF IT, DEAR—WE'RE TOGETHER AGAIN—AND NOW YOU HAVE DEFINITE PROOF THAT ZANDER PASSED AWAY—
LIKE TEMPERED STEEL OUR LOVE HAS GROWN GREATER AND STRONGER IN THE FIRES OF DESPAIR
LET'S PRAY THAT NOTHING WILL STAND IN THE WAY OF OUR HAPPINESS THIS TIME, MY OWN

STOCKS STAGE JERKY SESSION

Buying Shifts from Motors and Oils to Utilities Specialties.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 10. Stocks stumbled and righted themselves at intervals in today's market.

Buying shifted from selected motors, oils and rubbers to utilities and specialties. Steels, rails and coppers lacked recovery stamina.

Brokers said many traders were waiting for congress to adjourn before expanding commitments.

Grain futures rallied on Canadian crop reports. Bonds were narrow.

Up fractions to a point or so at the best were shares of Chrysler, Goodyear, Western Union, Electric Power & Light and Allied Chemical.

Early losses running to a point in steels were reduced later, but U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, National Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube had difficulty in holding their own.

Goodyear made a belated response to the company's best second quarter earnings since 1929. Western Union with a net [illegible] of $2.01 against $2[illegible] in the same 1936 period, also worked higher.

Followers of steels noted the statement of U. S. Steel showing a decline in July shipments from the June total, although the latest aggregate was the largest in [illegible] years for that month.

Merchandising [illegible] for study in the light of reports from store executives that [illegible] retail sales thus far have shown slackening tendencies. Increases over last year were said to be running less than 5 per cent in several sections.

On the other hand considerable satisfaction was drawn from the Montgomery Ward figures disclosing July sales were [illegible] per cent above those of the same [illegible] month, while turnover for [illegible] months topped the corresponding [illegible] the year before by 27.9 per cent.

The mail order [illegible] found evidence accumulating that the autumn months will bring a brisk pickup in trade, particularly in farm areas where bumper crops have lifted buying power substantially.

LIVESTOCK AUCTION RECEIPTS ARE 1,694

WHEAT JUMPS NEARLY 5 CENTS AT CHICAGO

Canada's Crop Failure and Low Export Supply Sends Prices Soaring.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—With all Winnipeg deliveries of wheat showing an excited bulge of five cents today, the Chicago wheat market scored 4⅞ cents maximum gain.

Official figures were taken as indicating Canada this season, owing to extraordinary crop failure, would have less than [illegible] bushels for export and home carry-over. Sudden revival of European demand today for North American wheat was much emphasized as a result.

At the close, wheat futures in Chicago were 2⅜@3⅞ above yesterday's finish, Sept. 1.13⅝@[illegible], Dec. 1.14⅝@[illegible], corn 1⅞@2⅞ down, Sept. 1.01@1.01⅝, Dec. 65½@⅝, and oats ⅜@⅝ off.

CONFEREES REACH COURT BILL ACCORD

Chairman To Call Report Up for Final Action in Senate.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—A senate-house conference committee agreed today on lower court reorganization legislation after a six-month congressional contest over the judiciary.

The conferees reached a complete agreement on the terms of the bill changing procedure in the lower courts. This measure was substituted for the Roosevelt court bill and its supreme court enlargement proposal.

Chairman McCarran, Democrat of Nevada, of the senate conferees, said he would call the report up for final action in the senate later today.

Chairman Ashurst, Democrat of Arizona, of the judiciary committee simultaneously announced the appointment of a seven-man committee to make a study already ordered by the senate into all judicial questions raised by the President's court bill.

The committee is composed of Senators McCarran, Logan, Democrat of Kentucky; Dieterich, Democrat of Illinois; Hatch, Democrat of New Mexico; Burke, Democrat of Nebraska; Austin, Republican of Vermont, and Ashurst, the chairman.

In its final form, the bill contained the four major points outlined in the agreement among senate leaders when the Roosevelt court bill was dropped. They were:

Direct appeal to the supreme court in cases involving the constitutionality of acts of congress.

Intervention of the attorney general in lower court cases involving the constitutionality of congressional laws.

Issuance of injunctions staying acts of congress by three judge courts, instead of by a single lower court judge.

Transfer of judges to meet congestion within a circuit.

MARYSVILLE—The Toledo & Ohio Central and New York Central railroads have jointly filed a petition with the interstate commerce commission asking for authority to abandon the track from Peoria, seven miles northwest of Marysville, to a point near Bellefontaine.

ALARMED IN SLEEP

Marysville Boy Brings Firemen Out While Sleep Walking.

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 10 — The Marysville fire department responded to the most unusual fire alarm in this city's history about midnight Sunday—a false alarm turned in as the result of Ralph Grimes Jr., 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Grimes, walking and talking while asleep.

About midnight Sunday the boy went to the Earl Montgomery refreshment stand nearby. He declared the Grimes home was on fire. Mr. Montgomery immediately phoned in the alarm. The boy walked away.

The fire apparatus and volunteer firemen went to the vicinity of the Grimes home. They found no fire. Mr. and Mrs. Grimes told the officers they were certain both of their sons were asleep but invited the officers in. Ralph was found asleep in the parlor wearing a pair of khaki trousers and stockings which were soaking wet, proving the youngster had been out of the house.

QUINTS IRRITABLE WITH LIGHT COLDS

Conditions Not Serious but Depressing, Says Dr. Dafoe.

By The Associated Press

CALLANDER, Ont., Aug. 10—(Canadian Press)—The Dionne quintuplets, famed for their coltish high spirits, were described today by their physician, Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, as "irritable and nervous."

They are indisposed with slight colds—not serious, but sufficiently distressing to keep their pranks and laughter at a minimum.

Dr. Dafoe announced that the quintuplets needed further rest before they could resume their public appearances. Until Friday, he said, they would be in seclusion.

Fresh screening was placed around the grounds in front of the nursery where the quints play to prevent them from being distracted by crowds of visitors.

Emilie, first of the babies to come down with a sniffle, was pronounced back in the pink of health, but Dr. Dafoe kept her in seclusion as well.

POWER FIRM SUES MORROW CO. CO-OP

Asks Court To Restrain Rural Electric Corporation from Erecting Power Line.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Aug. 10—The Ohio Central Telephone Co. of Wooster, which now serves Morrow county, has filed suit against the Morrow County Rural Electric Co-operative, Inc., in common pleas court here asking that the rural electric cooperative be restrained from erecting a high tension transmission line along their telephone lines in Harmony township.

Hearing will be Friday at 10 a. m. on the request for a temporary restraining order. Judge P. H. Wieland will hear the case.

The telephone company alleges that erection of the high tension line is being carried on without their consent. It will result, they claim, in what is commonly known as "over-build."

Use of the line for carrying 11,500 volts will cause inductive interference and cause impairment of their communication service to the public, they allege.

GEYGANITES BOOK 4 HOME CONTESTS

In the diamond contest, Jackie first became interested in baseball through her old neighbor and girlhood hero, Dazzy Vance. It was he who encouraged and coached her to the point where she was able to get a contract with the Chattanooga Lookouts, a Washington American farm, which still owns her.

While preparing for the exhibition game, Marion's club will be engaged in a series of crucial encounters with the top notch teams of the league. There won't be any easy picking for the Geyganites on this week's schedule and the Marion club will be working to cut down the four and one-half game lead now held by the first place Mansfield Red Sox.

Geygan Leads League

Batting averages released Saturday reveal that Helmsman Chapple Geygan is once more riding the crest in league warfare, topping all other circuit hitters with his .391 average. His nearest rival is Johnny Barrett of Mansfield who is hitting .379. Seven members of the Marion line-up are hitting over the .250 mark.

DEAD FISH CLOG SANDUSKY RIVER

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Aug. 10—Hundreds of dead and dying fish are floating down the Sandusky river and cluttering up the dam at Indian Mill northeast of here. As the fish gathered at the top of the water they attracted thick swarms of flies. Conservation Officer T. B. Warner of Sycamore took one of the dead fish to Columbus Monday where it will be examined in an effort to determine what caused the wholesale slaughter. Fish in the stream died similarly last year, at which time it was blamed on refuse from oil wells in this community.
